

Ejercicios de so y such en inglés

Nivel: B1

So intensifica una descripción; such introduce un sintagma nominal

Usa so antes de un adjetivo o adverbio sin nombre. Usa such antes de un sintagma nominal descriptivo, con a/an si el nombre contable es singular. Para cantidades, usa so much/many antes de un nombre. Estos patrones pueden llevar una oración de resultado con that.

So + adjetivo: The film was so funny that we laughed all evening. Aquí no hay un nombre después de funny.

So + adverbio: She spoke so quietly that I could not hear her. Quietly describe cómo habló.

Such a/an + nombre singular: It was such a funny film that we watched it twice. La expresión incluye un nombre contable singular.

Such + nombre plural o incontable: They were such friendly people. / It was such good news. No añadas a delante de un nombre plural o incontable.

So much/many: Para hablar de cantidad, usa so much + nombre incontable o so many + nombre plural: so much time, so many books.
