

Passado de do em inglês: did e done

O verbo do é irregular. Use did para ações concluídas no passado e done depois de have ou has. No presente, use does com he, she e it.

Base	do
Past	did
Past participle	done
3rd person / -ing	does / doing

Examples

I do my homework after school. — Aqui, do é o verbo principal: I do homework.

You do a lot of exercise. — Use do com I, you, we e they.

She did the dishes after dinner. — Did é o passado simples e dispensa outro auxiliar.

We did our best in the test. — Did our best significa que fizemos o melhor possível.

I have done all my work. — Depois de have, use o particípio done.

He has done the shopping. — Has done está no presente perfeito.

Notes

Verbo principal ou auxiliar Do pode ser o verbo principal (I do my homework) ou auxiliar em perguntas e negativas (Do you like tea? I do not like coffee). Como auxiliar, não significa “fazer”.

Depois de did e does, use a forma básica Depois dos auxiliares did, does e do, o verbo seguinte fica na forma básica: She did not do it; Does he do yoga?

Do ou make? Use do para tarefas e atividades: do homework, do the dishes. Use make para criar ou produzir algo: make a cake.

Common mistakes

She do her homework. → She does her homework. — Com he, she e it no presente, use does.

He has did it. → He has done it. — Depois de has ou have, use done.

Did you did it? → Did you do it? — Depois do auxiliar did, o verbo principal volta à forma básica.
